MediaHuman Audio Converter

MediaHuman Audio Converter is an audio conversion program that can turn sound and video files into AAC, AC3, AIFF, ALAC, FLAC, MP3, OGG, WAV and WMA. The tool is intuitive enough to be used by novices, and includes additional settings for more experienced users. The setup operation does not take a long while to finish, so you can begin working with the program immediately after. The user-friendly GUI is made from a regular window with a comfortable format, where you can import audio and video files for conversion using either the file browser or drag-and-drop method. It is possible to work with multiple items at the same time, since batch processing is supported. The list shows the name, duration and other audio and video properties for each file. All you have to do is establish the output destination and profile, in order to start conversion. You can remove an item from the queue or clear it altogether. Advanced users may set MediaHuman Audio Converter to automatically overwrite existing files, split tracks by using CUE sheets, immediately start conversion as soon as the files are imported, remove the source file on task completion, and more. Notifications may be disabled for files started, failed, completed or finished, while converted tracks can be added to iTunes automatically, and the original folder structure can be kept. MediaHuman Audio Converter has minimal impact on computer performance, as it needs only a small part of CPU and RAM. We have not experienced any kind of difficulties during evaluation, since the tool did not hang, crash or pop up error messages. It outputs quality tracks. All in all, MediaHuman Audio Converter should please most users.
