The present invention relates to a step ladder and, more particularly, to a locking step ladder which prevents the ladder from being removed by unauthorized persons. The use of ladders is widespread in both residential and commercial buildings. Many ladders are provided with a safety latch or locking mechanism to prevent a person from being injured or falling off the ladder. Such mechanisms are typically inexpensive and add little to the structural integrity of the ladder. However, many of the ladders in residential homes are not provided with a safety latch and, consequently, unauthorized persons can easily remove them from the home and place them at inappropriate locations. As a result, such ladders are typically left in the open. Accordingly, there is a need for a ladder locking mechanism which will prevent a person from being injured or falling off the ladder and which adds little to the cost and structural integrity of the ladder. The present invention provides a ladder locking mechanism for ladders which prevents a person from removing the ladder. The ladder includes a pair of spaced rails with a plurality of rungs secured therebetween. The ladder includes a horizontal side member having a first end with a first end support and a second end having a second end support. The ladder also includes a vertical side member having a

Easy Qur'an Reading with Baghdadi Primer Part 1 and Part 2 by Moustafa Elgindy (Hardcover: PDF ) on Amazon.com. FREE .Q:

How to automatically get a list of subdirectories in a directory ( or all directories ) in C#? I want to get a list of all subdirectories in a given directory, but I don't want to iterate through the tree manually. I need this function to run on a scheduled task. It seems like the right thing is to use

Directory.EnumerateDirectories but I can't find any examples of how to handle the results, or how to implement the directory walk. I have seen How can I get a list of directories in a directory tree? but I would rather have a solution which works on all directories, including hidden ones. It also does not accept any filtering conditions. A: You can use the EnumerateFiles and EnumerateDirectories methods, but you will have to find out how to manage the results yourself, and provide the filtering condition in the method call. The directory listing below was found using the following function: /// /// Finds all files in a directory. /// /// The directory to search. /// A list of file names.

public static List FindAllFiles(string dir) { List fileList = new List(); string[] files = Directory.GetFiles(dir, ".", SearchOption.AllDirectories); foreach (string fileName in files) {
    fileList.Add(fileName); } string[] subdirectories = Directory.GetDirectories(dir, ".", SearchOption.AllDirectories); foreach (string subdirectory in subdirectories) {
    fileList.AddRange(FindAllFiles(subdirectory)); } return fileList; }
