Welcome to the Age of Sumer. In the 24th century BC, the Sumerians have turned the land of Mesopotamia from a simple Cradle of Civilization to the home of empires. It is your mission to take control of the kingdom of Kish and conquer your enemies, in order to become Lugal Kiški, King of the Universe. The Sumerians, or "the black-headed people" (Saĝ-ĝi-ga in their native tongue), were the first people to invent both civilization and writing. Their well-organised and state-run societies make the perfect setting for a strategic video game. In King of the Universe, you will not only try to conquer your enemies, you will also have to take care of your own people. Through military means you gather land and slaves, and through economic means you build new structures for your people. If your citizens do not produce enough supplies to quench your war machine, you will fail. If you do not protect your citizens from foreign invaders, you will fail. This game is about balance, and only by finding it will you become King of the Universe. Tiles Claim tiles and build or destroy structures.

Watch your people go about their day-to-day lives. Wealth Garner Silver and resources, such as Food, Metal and Tools. Troops Build an army, and order your soldiers around. Follow your individual troops with the camera. Slaves Collect slaves when conquering foreign land, and use these to build new structures in your kingdom. Citizens Keep an eye on the hunger and health of your people. Make sure every class in your kingdom has enough money to survive. Pricing Decide the prices of wares in your kingdom, to control the economy to ensure profits for your state. Trade Buy and sell with the other empires, to build relations and gain an extra income for your war machine. About The Game King of the Universe: Welcome to the Age of Sumer. Ho-Ho-Home Invasion is a unique and challenging puzzler where you navigate a giant snow globe. Unable to leave the confines of your home, save for your wand, you must use the various shapes and tools at your disposal to uncover the truth. Your health won't last long, since your a zero-g world, and you'll also face dangers such as evaporation, freezing, mechanical devices that chew through your body, and many other challenges. Features: YOUR CREATION?SAVE! Create your snow globe and then decide how and when it will drift away. This is your snow globe, and you can decide every single detail about it. Create a snow globe that begins as a small hill and gradually expands, creating a fan-shaped mound, or a snow globe that starts in one room and suddenly expands to multiple rooms, letting it slowly overflow into the hallway. "Drift" your snow globe will it will expand, shrinking in the process. Use your wits and your tools to defeat the suction or by exploding elements! ACTIVATE THE ATMOSPHERIC RIGGINGS The atmosphere of your snow globe is a result of gravity, air currents, moisture, and even temperature differences. Use your wits and tools to activate or deactivate air currents with the in-game atmosphere meter. SURVIVAL?AVOID DANGER! Using your wits and the available tools, you must escape from a deadly situation that could kill you. Take a "safety" break, deactivate the atmosphere, or even explode elements to solve the puzzle. GREAT LEVELS?EXCITING! As you progress through the game, certain factors will lead you into increasingly difficult areas. Make sure to check them out, but always make sure you can survive! Collect the tools you will need for these levels, and be ready for deadly surprises! EXPERIENCE REALISM! Ho-Ho-Home Invasion uses OpenGL, so you will get a 3D-like atmosphere on a 2D screen. You will be able to walk around in first-person mode, but your view will be limited to the left and right sides of the screen, just as a real snow globe would look. Explosions are placed at a great distance, to avoid killing you while in first-person mode. You will not be able to walk through walls, unless you use the expansion mode, of course. WITH THE JUMPSTART c9d1549cdd
